

ABOUT THE STATE

HAPPENINGS OF INTEREST FROM DIFFERENT SECTIONS

More than 800 people registered at the restaurant in St. Albans during August.

General Edward H. Ripley of Mendon is recovering from a surgical operation at the Rutland hospital.

"Efficiency" will be the keynote of the Lamont Baptist association at its annual meeting in St. Albans Monday.

A gang of thieves attempting to rob a candy stand at Lake Bomoseen were dispersed when the proprietor discharged his revolver in the air.

One hundred members of the painters' union in Plattsburg, N. Y., with their own band, will assist Burlington in celebrating Labor day this year.

Flage in Burlington were placed at at half-staff out of respect to the memory of General W. W. Henry, who died in that city this week.

Mrs. Elma (Miller) Stebbins, 67, wife of George C. Stebbins, the well-known hymn writer, died at her summer home in Northfield, Mass., Wednesday.

Business men of Bakersfield are conferring with the owners of a power plant in Enosburg Falls over the proposal to light the former village by electricity.

Lack of business is said to be the reason why the Central Vermont railroad has closed its station at South Franklin. All trains will make regular stops, but no tickets will be sold.

The house of Prior held its annual reunion in Jeffersonville this week. Mrs. Harmon Prior, nearing her 95th year, was the oldest member of the family to join in the merrymaking.

David Warshafsky, a Burlington peddler, is missing from Sandy Hill, N. Y., where he was last seen, and Vermont and New York police have been interested in a search for him.

Fifty Civil war survivors, including 15 Grand Army men from North Adams, Mass., met in Bennington Wednesday for the annual reunion of the Bennington County Veterans' association.

Reports that Mrs. Annie Sherwood Hawks, author of "I Need Thee Every Hour," and other well known hymns, was seriously ill at her home in Bennington are discredited at the Hawks home.

Andrew J. Plant, a Burlington sawyer, is in a critical condition at the hospital as the result of injuries received when a board struck him in the stomach as he was operating a sawing machine Wednesday.

Modern Woodmen of the Vermont department to the number of 1,000 are planning to be in Burlington October 22 to greet A. R. Talbot of Lincoln, Neb., head consul of the order in the United States.

The 22d annual convention of the Vermont branch of the King's Daughters will be held in Bennington September 27-29. Mrs. Anthony H. Evans, president of the international order, will be the principal speaker.

Albert H. Robinson of North Carolina, a visitor this summer at Old Bennington, celebrated his 84th birthday August 31 by entertaining a large party of friends at a dinner party. Remembrances came to the host from Maine and New Mexico, among other states.

One hundred babies participated in the 10th annual babies' meet on the village common in Brattleboro Wednesday. A parade in which all of the little folks took part was followed by games. Had it not been for the unfavorable weather, the attendance would have been considerably larger.

The 5th annual reception of the descendants of Lorenzo Brown was held in South Vernon recently at the old Brown homestead. Mr. Brown was a man of strong personality and exercised a wide influence in that community. He was a fluent speaker and served in the legislature of his native state.

Governor Gates has named Robert W. Simonds, chairman of the Vermont industrial accident board, to represent the board at the annual meeting of the National Industrial Accident Board association, which is to be held in Seattle, Wash., September 30 and October 1. Mr. Simonds will also attend a meeting of the national insurance board in California as a representative of Vermont.

Brandon Woman Appeals on Amount Offered for School Site.

Rutland, Sept. 3.—Julia A. C. Jackson of Brandon, through Webster & Webster, of this city as attorneys, has appealed to Rutland county court from a decision of the selectmen of Brandon, F. E. Kingsley, W. A. Atwell and W. R. Avery, on request of the prudential committee of the Brandon graded school district, caused to be surveyed nine acres of the petitioner's land in the village, appraising it at $600 and ordering that all fences be removed within three months after September 1. The town has voted to build a $40,000 high school and the site is wanted for the building. The woman considers the tract of land worth several thousands dollars.

She asks the court to appoint a commission to look into the valuation of the land. She declares that in addition to the low price fixed on the property, there are other reasons why the proceeds should be stopped as irregular methods were used.

Morris and Red Lion Mary.

It is a pity that more domestic servants have not taken to authorship, for some of them could have written most entertaining reminiscences. Foremost among these stragglers Red Lion Mary, who looked after Burne-Jones and William Morris when they shared a studio at 17 Red Lion square. We are told that one morning after breakfast Morris came out on the landing and roared downstairs: "Mary, those six eggs were bad. I've eaten them, but don't let it occur again." Morris was in the habit of lunching daily off roast beef and plum pudding, no matter at what season of the year, records F. M. Hueffer, not a domestic servant, and he liked his puddings large. "Do you call that a pudding, Mary?" he shouted when served with one about the size of a breakfast cup, and, having added some appropriate oburgations, he hurried it at her. This anecdote should not be taken to evidence settled brutality on his part. Red Lion Mary was one of his loyal supporters to the end of her days.—London Chronicle.

First Great American Painter. The first portrait painter of the United States to win general fame was Thomas Sully, who was born in 1783. One of the first celebrated American historical paintings, "Washington Crossing the Delaware," was the product of his genius. Sully established himself in Richmond as a portrait painter in 1803, but soon removed to New York and in 1810 to Philadelphia, which city was afterward his home.

In addition to "Washington Crossing the Delaware," his famous historical paintings include "The Capture of Major Andre" and "Miranda." As a portrait painter his most notable subjects were Thomas Jefferson, Lafayette, James Madison, John Marshall, Fanny Kemble and Queen Victoria. He visited England to paint the girl queen in her coronation robes. Sully lived to an advanced age, dying in Philadelphia in 1872.

Lowering the Topmast.

Lord Chelmsford once related that a friend of his at the bar was engaged in a nautical case, in which it appeared that a vessel, in a severe gale of wind, had been thrown upon her beam ends. The barrister, who appears to have had a smattering of nautical matters, asked a sailor who was in the witness box how it was that it did not lower the topmast, upon which the witness replied, with a sneer, "If you knew as much of the sea as I do you would know that that is not an easy matter in a gale of wind." This incident led the counsel to turn his attention to the subject, in consequence of which he invented an apparatus for lowering topmasts, for which he obtained a patent and earned upward of $20,000 by his invention.—London Globe.

ENGLAND'S THRONE.

As One of the Heirs to It, the German Emperor is Very Remote.

In answer to the question, "Was the emperor of Germany ever considered an heir to the English throne and did Queen Victoria have a law passed to exclude him from the succession?" the Philadelphia Press says:

"The possibility of the German emperor ever succeeding to the throne of England is so very remote as to cause little thought. There was more or less talk on the subject at the time of the marriage of the Kaiser's mother to the heir to the German throne in 1858, but we are unable to find that any parliamentary action was taken even then.

"After King George came his five sons, and one daughter and their children, if any; then King George's sister Louise, Duchess of Fife, her two daughters and the son of the elder; then Princess Victoria, then Queen Maud of Norway and her son, making thirteen at present living in the line of succession. After that the succession reverts to the descendants of the late King Edward's brother, Alfred, duke of Edinburgh; Arthur, duke of Connaught, and Leopold, duke of Albany. As these all married and had numerous children and grandchildren, there is a long line of heirs to the throne before the succession would come to the descendants of the oldest sister of King Edward, the late Empress Frederick of Germany, the first of which line is Emperor William."

Why Suffer From Migraine or Sick Headache? USE ANTI-KAMNIA TABLETS

Dr. J. J. Caldwell says that this exceedingly distressing disease does not shorten life, but does not appear to be curable. Sufferers from this distressing ailment are recommended to undergo the periodical attacks every few weeks until they are forty years of age, after which the attacks are less frequent, and finally disappear entirely. Palliative measures during the attack are all that it is possible to suggest, while care in the diet is the best preventive measure. An attack may often be prevented by taking two Anti-Kamnia Tablets with meals and at bedtime, and one Anti-Kamnia Tablet every two hours during the attack shortens it, eases the pain and brings rest and quiet. Anti-Kamnia Tablets may be obtained at all druggists. Ask for A-K Tablets. They quickly relieve all pain.
